Twickenham, with its famous ferry, immortalised in the well-known ballad, is situated on a popular stretch of the river between Richmond and Kingston. Many famous people, including such celebrities as Pope, Walpole, Swift, Marlow, Defoe, Boyle, Dickens and Tennyson, have resided at Twickenham, and it is still the site of many fine houses, the grounds of which, sloping down to the water's edge, make the close vicinity of a populous district seem almost absurd.
